The Right Answer
Lady Astor Returns
American English
British Socialism

— BY ARTHUR BRISBANE —

The answer of President Coolidge to Secretary Kellogg to the British plan for a naval agreement between Europeans alone too soon and too independent country to please French or French dominion

It is fine and reassuring to read, plainly stated, that England and United States cannot consider proposals which would leave them open to unlimited building and increase of ships of a highly destructive value (to France and Italy) and would impose results on those types peculiarly necessary to American needs

The country is indebted to the newspapers for publishing the real reasons for the French British treaty and to President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg for sending promptly the right answer to an attempt to secure recruits begging us to save them from destruction—when all their backs to the wall is known but it

The nation would now build whatever it needs in CRUISERS submarines and airplanes especially the last two

We have the money as Britain has to spend and outbuild France and Britain combined

LADY ASTOR born in Virginia is now in the House of Commons returns to the United States and says

The women of the world are organized for peace They have always been organizing for peace, and manufacturing arms for war

AMERICAN talking movies seen and heard in England arouse envy and prediction that the silent picture is doomed

British critics suggested that American actors should go to private Oxford They don't like our brand of English

PERHAPS the talking movies will teach them to like the American language just as they have been taught by our silent movies to like American clothes and some other things

THE British premier Baldwin, refusing to accept tariff change as the issue in the coming election Socialism the REAL issue, he says Socialism in opinion is opposed to constitutional and individualism," which is presumably the desire and right of the individual to get what he can and keep it in the good old way

WHAT is the difference as regards the power of individualism in Britain and in the United States With Socialism is an interesting theory like the fourth dimension or the square of the circle

Only Socialists take socialism seriously here And the ablest of the dozen Socialists Victor Berger a well educated man would probably admit that to raise wages 20 per cent to reduce socialism 20 per cent

ON Wednesday work was stopped for an hour everywhere in Palestine as Jewish workers and a protestant police interference at the Wailing wall on Yom Kippur

Shops were closed traffic stopped in Jerusalem while 10,000 listened to addresses of denunciation by rabbis

THE wailing wall at which Jews go to bewail express their grief because of the Arabs under the League of Nations settlement The Jews declare that it must be turned over to them A discussion affecting all the holy places in Jerusalem may result

THE interest rate paid by business men in America continues higher than anywhere in the world except in Chinese shops

The Wall Street call money yesterday cost 6 per cent Business men borrowing on time paid 7½ per cent

HIGH finance is doing what it can to kill the golden goose but probably will be satisfied of it can strip all the fat off that goose before it dies It could do some one's business to kill the national banks that insure it publicly as well as immoral President Coolidge might choose to do it

REACTION TO NOTE SEEN AS FAVORABLE

Kellogg Believed To Have Stated American Position on Disarmament Clearly

Washington, Sept. 29—Reaction to the American note to France and Great Britain declining to accept as a basis for further naval disarmament the France British compromise agreement on light cruiser and submarine construction, was definitely favorable in naval and other official circles here today

It was thought Secretary Kellogg had stated the American position in such a way as to make it impossible for a charge of hampering naval limitation to attach against the United States

The note points the way for discussions to be resumed in the preliminary commission on disarmament of the League of Nations through which formal proposal made by France in March 1927 at a meeting of this commission, which was a forerunning part of the record

The government of the United States, Kellogg said, is quite willing to use its best efforts to obtain a basis of further naval limitation satisfactory to all the naval powers including those not represented at the three power conference in Geneva, and is willing to take into consideration any conference the special needs of France Italy or any other naval power for the particular class of vessels deemed by them most suitable for their defense

Kellogg then points out that this could be accomplished by permitting any of the powers to vary the precautions of tonnage in classes from the total tonnage a certain percentage to be agreed upon

Presbyterian Centennial Is Sunday's Outstanding Church Event

THREE PROGRAMS ARRANGED FOR DAY

Three Former Pastors of Local Congregation Coming for Celebration

OUTLINE OF HISTORY

First Presbyterian Church Organized in 1848 with 46 Members

Dispensing with their own services, members of Forest Lawn Presbyterian church will attend the special service Sunday night at First Presbyterian church. The service is one of four programs commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of the church.

The services are to be held at 9 and 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday and 7:15 p. m. Monday.

Principal speakers will be Dr. Frank Granstaff, the Rev. L. L. Strock and the Rev. Raymond W. Smiley, three former pastors. Dr. Granstaff will speak Sunday night, Mr. Smiley Sunday morning and Mr. Strock at the Sunday school. The service Monday night will be in the form of a congregational reception.

The church was organized 100 years ago when the city of Marion was a struggling little village six years of age.

First Meeting

On the first day of September, 1828, the first meeting of the Presbyterians of Marion and vicinity was held. The Rev. Henry Van Deman and the Rev. Aluah Jinks, of Delaware county, were in charge. Eight days later the First Presbyterian church of Marion was formally organized with a membership of 46.

In 1830 three home missionaries came into the Marion Presbytery to labor and one of them, the Rev. Elihu Barber served as supply pastor for three years. He was succeeded by the Rev. Thomas Crafty, of Bucyrus.

The "counties of Delaware, Union, Crawford and Marion were set aside from the Presbytery of Columbus to make the Marion presbytery" in 1835. There were nineteen churches and eight ministers. Organization was effected in April of that year.

Only Dissension

The only dissension occurred over matters of theology and doctrine in 1838. The membership was reunited in Delaware, Sept. 23, 1870.

As the church grew in membership it was decided to incorporate it and on Jan. 31, 1852, the little organization became "The First Presbyterian Congregation of Marion."

Plans for building of a new church were begun in 1849 and the first steps towards its erection were taken in 1850. The present church was dedicated Nov. 20, 1856. The incorporators were Henry True, George D. Copeland, Fenton W. Fish, S. E. Barlow, H. M. Ault and B. F. W. Thomas.

Highlights in History of Local Church

PASTORS of the First Presbyterian church from 1828 to 1928 are listed as follows: Rev. Henry Van Deman, Rev. E. Barber, Rev. Thomas Crafty, Rev. John A. Dunlop, Rev. Joseph A. Murray, Rev. Enoch S. Sheppard, Rev. Peter B. Van Artu, Rev. Bloomfield Wall, Rev. I. N. Shepherd, Rev. H. B. Fry, Rev. J. H. Pratt, Rev. D. D. Waugh, Rev. Alexander Sinclair, Rev. E. R. Hollenbergerger, Rev. W. E. Thomas, Rev. Frank Granstaff, Rev. George McClellan Hoarke, Rev. L. L. Strock, Rev. Raymond W. Smiley and the Rev. Howard L. Olewiler.

The first child baptized in the Marion Presbyterian church was Sarah Knapp, Sept. 29, 1828. The first death in the membership was that of James Carr, Oct. 13 of the same year. The first marriage of a member united Asa Ballentine and John Mortgerridge, Oct. 26, 1829.

Mrs. Harry True has been a member of the First church since 1870 or 1871, uniting by letter from a church near Cincinnati, which she attended when at boarding school.

Ministers, or licensed preachers, reared in the Marion church were Henry Ballentine, Henry A. True, and Edwin O. Nestle, also Marcellus Bowman and John D. Stokes, who were ordained to preach.

July 2, 1871 a rich member of the church, charged with being under the influence of liquor and using profane language, was given a hearing by the session. He denied the charges, but was found guilty of the second charge and suspended until he should furnish satisfactory evidence of his repentance.

Mrs. Charlotte Darbie, daughter of William Bain, visited at the time of dedication of the present church, that Lee father sketched the plan of the second church with charcoal in the kitchen of their home in the presence of Thomas Henderson, then a deacon, and Dr. Henry A. True, an elder in the church from 1845 until his death in 1870.

The Sunday school of the First church is the outgrowth of a union Sunday School — the first in Marion—time of organization of which is not recorded.

The first organ for the church was purchased in 1855. It was of the bellows type that required "pumping."

Lee Street mission was organized in January, 1867, and Forest Lawn mission during the pastorate of the Rev. Frank Granstaff, 1866-1876.

Two present members of the church have records of 25 years each in Sunday school work. They are D. C. Nilson, superintendent for 25 years before his retirement in 1927, and L. H. McNeal, who has directed the Sunday school orchestra for more than a quarter of a century.

The first collection at the communion season in 1829, the second year of the church, amounted to $2.21, which was considered unusually large at that time.

The first $10 towards the purchase of the lot on which the original Presbyterian church was erected was the contribution of George Lincapher, grandfather of Mrs. Charles Felty, LaFontaine av.

John D. Stokes was the first member of the church to enter the ministry. He was pastor of a church at East Hampton, Long Island many years, preaching his thirtieth thanksgiving sermon there in 1900.

The Idealist

A SERMONETTE

BY THE REV. JAMES M. FISHER

Director, Lee Street Presbyterian Church.

WE have often heard of the terms, Idealist and Idealism. Dr. Frank Crane's definition is this: "The ideal condition of the race is that of having no outward law, each man being a law unto himself."

Prophecy of the Old Testament says that the day shall come when the laws shall no more be written upon tablets, but the Lord shall write them upon our hearts. Keep this vision, believe it, work it; connect your vision with conditions of today, then you are an Idealist and you do us all good.

Isaiah is of the ethical type of idealism. Note what he says, "The high and lofty One that inhabiteth eternity." Many reformers before Isaiah and many after him began by believing that they could lift the whole world at once. Isaiah's vision was of a Utopia, and he believed that he could bring his countrymen into the full realization of his ideal.

"And it shall come to pass in the latter days, that the mountain of Jehovah's house shall be established on the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shall flow unto it." Here is a grand picture of a vast commonwealth centered in the beautiful city of Jerusalem. Where did he get it? Perhaps, from Micah.

His Jerusalem shall be the light of the world; the educational centre both secular and religious, of the earth, for it shall contain the school and temple as well. The throne, the very seat of the throne of Judgment of Jehovah, when He shall reign over all the nations and mankind shall dwell in peace and harmony. And many people shall go and say: "Come ye and let us go to the mountain of Jehovah, to the house of the God of Jacob; and he shall teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths....."

What a glorious destiny; its light shining into the far off horizon and no wonder he cried: "O house of Jacob, come ye, and let us walk in the light of the Lord."

Presbyterian Centennial Is Sunday's Outstanding Church Event

THREE PROGRAMS ARRANGED FOR DAY

Three Former Pastors of Local Congregation Coming for Celebration

OUTLINE OF HISTORY

First Presbyterian Church Organized in 1848 with 46 Members

Dispensing with their own services, members of Forest Lawn Presbyterian church will attend the special service Sunday night at First Presbyterian church. The service is one of four programs commemorating the one-hundredth anniversary of the church.

The services are to be held at 9 and 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sunday and 7:45 p. m. Monday.

Principal speakers will be Dr. Frank Granstaff, the Rev. L. L. Streck and the Rev. Raymond W. Smiley, three former pastors. Dr. Granstaff will speak Sunday night, Mr. Smiley Sunday morning and Mr. Streck at the Sunday school. The service Monday night will be in the form of a congregational reception.

The church was organized 100 years ago when the city of Marion was a struggling little village six years of age.

First Meeting

On the first day of September, 1828, the first meeting of the Presbyterians of Marion and vicinity was held. The Rev. Henry Van Deman and the Rev. Alab Jinks, of Delaware county, were in charge. Eight days later the First Presbyterian church of Marion was formally organized with a membership of 46.

In 1839 three home missionaries came into the Marion Presbytery to labor and one of them, the Rev. Elihu Barber served as supply pastor for three years. He was succeeded by the Rev. Thomas Beatty, of Bucyrus.

The counties of Delaware, Union, Crawford and Marion were set aside from the Presbytery of Columbus to make the Marion presbytery in 1846. There were nineteen churches and eight ministers. Organization was effected in April of that year.

Only Dissension

The only dissension occurred over matters of theology, and doctrine in 1838. The membership was reunited in Delaware, Sept. 13, 1870.

As the church grew in membership it was decided to incorporate it and on Jan. 31, 1832, the little organization became "The First Presbyterian Congregation of Marion."

Plans for building of a new church were begun in 1849 and the first steps towards its erection were taken in 1850. The present church was dedicated Nov. 29, 1860. The incorporators were Henry True, George D. Copeland, Fenton W. Fitch, S. E. Barlow, H. M. Aull and Dr. F. W. Thomas.

Mrs. Harry True has been a member of the First church since 1870 or 1871, uniting by letter from a church near Cincinnati, which she attended when at boarding school.

Ministers, or licensed preachers, reared in the Marion church were Henry Ballentine, Henry A. True, and Edwin O. Neff, also Marcellus Boone and John D. Snyder, who are ordained to preach.

July 2, 1831 a male member of the church, charged with being under the influence of liquor and using profane language, was given a hearing by the session. He denied the charge but was found guilty of the second charge and suspended until he should furnish satisfactory evidence of his repentance.

Mrs. Charlotte Davids, daughter of William Palm, stated at the time of dedication of the present church, that her father sketched the plan of the second church with charcoal in the kitchen of their home in the presence of Thomas Henderson, then a deacon, and Dr. Henry A. True, an elder in the church from 1847 until his death in 1870.

The first collection at the communion season in 1829, the second year of the church, amounted to $2.21, which was considered unusually large at that time.

The first $10 towards the purchase of the lot on which the original Presbyterian church was erected was the contribution of George Umpher, grandfather of Mrs. Charles Felty, Ballentine av.

John D. Stokes was the first member of the church to enter the ministry. He was pastor of a church at East Hampton, Long Island many years, preaching his thirtieth thanksgiving sermon there in 1906.

The Idealist

A SERMONETTE

BY THE REV. JAMES M. FISHER

Director, Lee Street Presbyterian Church.

WE have often heard of the terms, Idealist and Idealism. Dr. Frank Crane's definition is this: "The ideal condition of the race is that of having no outward law, each man being a law unto himself."

Prophecy of the Old Testament says that the day shall come when the laws shall no more be written upon tablets, but the Lord shall write them upon our hearts. Keep this vision, believe it, work it; connect your vision with conditions of today, then you are an idealist and you do us all good.

Isaiah is of the ethical type of idealism. Note what he says, "The high and lofty One that inhabiteth eternity." Many reformers before Isaiah and many after him began by believing that they could lift the whole world at once. Isaiah's vision was of a Utopia, and he believed that he could bring his countrymen into the full realization of his ideal.

"And it shall come to pass in the latter days, that the mountain of Jehovah's house shall be established on the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shall flow unto it." Here is a grand picture of a vast commonwealth centered in the beautiful city of Jerusalem. Where did he get it? Perhaps, from Micah.

His Jerusalem shall be the light of the world; the educational center both secular and religious, of the earth, for it shall contain the school and temple as well. The throne, the very seat of the throne of Judgment of Jehovah, when He shall reign over all the nations and mankind shall dwell in peace and harmony. And many people shall go and say: "Come ye and let us go to the mountain of Jehovah, to the house of the God of Jacob; and he shall teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths....."

What a glorious destiny; its light shining into the far off horizon and no wonder he cries: "O house of Jacob, come ye, and let us walk in the light of the Lord."

To Change State Constitution.

Governor Donahey has announced that he will campaign against the initiated constitutional amendment permitting judges to draw salary increases voted to them during their terms of office a course adopted by the constitution of Ohio as it stands today, and to this end he has named himself a member of the committee selected to prepare arguments against the proposal which in part, reads

The compensation for such judges, provided by law, shall not be diminished or increased during the term of office of such judges, except that whenever any law now existing or hereinafter enacted, changing the salary or compensation of judges of the supreme court court of appeals the common pleas court, the probate court, the municipal court of any municipality or any other court established by law becomes effective as to any judge of the courts enumerated then such law shall be deemed equally effective and in operation as to all judges of such courts notwithstanding the provisions of Section 26 of Article II of the Constitution of Ohio

Should this amendment reap the approval of the voters of Ohio it would make operative the provisions of the Ott bill passed by the general assembly last year vetoed by Governor Donahey and passed over his veto

The bill increased the salary of the chief justice of the Ohio supreme court from $9 000 to $12,000 annually and the salaries of the other justices of the court from $8 000 to $12 000 There is no question of this but in his veto message Governor Donahey held that the bill permits increases of the salaries of the judges of courts of appeal from $8 000 to a maximum of $12 000 and for common pleas judges to a maximum of $12 000 in Cuyahoga county

We are very frank to say that we are not in position to judge of the merit of the governor's contention, and thus await with interest the argument against the proposal prepared by the committee of which he has made himself a member If is a matter in which every taxpayer in the state should take interest

But we are just as frank in saying that it is our belief that the constitutional impediment against the changing of the salary during the term of office of an incumbent is a good one, demonstrated to be such through the years since it became a constitutional provision The provision now a part of the constitution works two ways It not only protects the taxpayers, but officials as well

Crime and the Death Penalty.

Opponents of capital punishment [illegible] found in public sentiment to [illegible] to be found in [illegible] the world of transgression [illegible] Half [illegible] to the [illegible] solved from the public and the forum We [illegible] the [illegible] of the opponents are those who are opposed to the established order of things who oppose to anything which has [illegible] of any thing which has [illegible] capital punishment believing or professing to believe that which God or man has not the right to take We have known one or two of this kind who even [illegible] with their belief when they shot down innocent [illegible] to satisfy a lust for killing. Then some of them are just plain nuts But regardless of the particular course they follow, practically all of them get on common ground in holding out that the death penalty is not a cure for crime that it does not prevent crime that most criminals fear more than a sentence of life imprisonment than the do a sentence of death

Such appeal from a death sentence and the papers are full of the making of such appeals is a confirmation of the view that the average criminal prefers death to prison In the face of the almost unanimous report and confession of appeals that death sentences may be commuted to life imprisonment it is certain that the opponents of capital punishment do not forego such strains upon the credulity of mankind

Up in Detroit Meiko Petrovich has just been sentenced to life at hard labor in Jackson prison The hard labor possibly should be quoted to call attention to the joke it carries The evidence showed he became tired of his wife and decided to kill her At the time Meiko and his wife were living in Pennsylvania but Meiko figured out that he didn't want to kill her there for the Keystone state has a death penalty for murder, and Meiko knew that, if convicted he would offer another example over which the sentimentalists could express their horror In other words Meiko knew that in the event of his apprehension and conviction he would be executed So he moved from his home in Pennsylvania to Michigan having found that Michigan hasn't any death penalty and that the punishment for murder in that state is on the average fifteen years or less according to the activities of the parole board In a word Meiko deliberately took his wife to Michigan and murdered her, relying upon the fact that Michigan hasn't a death penalty to cause him to lose his life in punishment for the one he took

Opponents of capital punishment will plead that this man was crazy a poor sick mental wreck In this day and age almost all murderers are either crazy or pretend that they are, on the advice of their attorneys But this particular murderer wasn't so crazy that he didn't hunt around and pick a state which he considered right for the commission of his crime

The death sentence say the sentimentalists will never cure crime Possibly not In the sense that it will not keep all from the commission of murder But, if the death sentence is carried out it certainly will prevent the murderer upon whom it is inflicted from committing another crime It will do more than that, it will keep a lot of others from committing crimes

When all is said the death penalty is not inflicted as a cure, but as a punishment for murder That this particular punishment is not often inflicted is the explanation in large part, of the mighty increase in our record of homicides

Air and Sky Add to Life.

BY ROYAL S COPELAND M D

Why is it that sensible men and women leaders of the right characters of public sentiment teachers and preachers—why is it that they are willing meekly to endure an atmosphere of dust sin breathe germs? Why will they live in filth breathe contaminated and disease producing air?

I sometimes say that educated people know everything except how to live They know approximately and apply values except such as relate to good health and long life

It isn't enough merely to live to be eighty To be active and effective at that age is far more important Nobody wants to shuffle along dragging dead or dying members robbing the quiet taker of his overdue employment When the chief duty of muscles and sprightliness of gait are gone what is left of the body is hardly worth keeping

You don't need to break down an old or sickly It is within your power to fend off that evil day and to prolong your usefulness indefinitely

I firmly believe that the average man can add years to his expectancy of life He can not do it by smoking his forefinger twice a day that he can do it by observing a few simple rules of personal hygiene

What are these rules

The first one relates to fresh air and sunshine There is no excuse for the former I would rather have sunshine than to get along with sky shine But sometimes it is impossible to have sunshine while sky shine is always available

Man could not live in a thermos bottle Neither can he long survive an atmosphere so dead and lifeless as would be found in a giant thermos bottle Why will men and women suffer in miserable little hovels of the wrong business office?

Recently I saw a sconce committee room therefore unlighted converted into a place of sweet clean air There are two windows each with a transom An electric fan was fitted into a round opening in each transom One fan directed a current of air inwards and the other blew it out wards In this simple manner there was established a circulation of pure air without dangerous drafts

There are other methods of ventilation but I have little faith in a single one of them as the millions of sunshine, fresh air cures Here must be not only skin able to breathe but also the body must be bathed in the stimulating and life giving rays of light from our sky

Light possesses qualities which are essential to the highest physical welfare as well as to the mental attitude Flush up the shades and get all you can of the beneficent effects of sky shine and sunshine If your work habitually at night demand modern illumination a scientific substitute for sunshine

You will find that men and women if you live close to Nature's heart You can not thrive physically if you disregard the rules of hygiene

Man, the Climber.

BY GARRETT P SERVISS

To my mind one of the [illegible] of evolution is found in the swinging of [illegible] whichever we walk Doubtless [illegible] habit and rate our quadrupedal [illegible] try?—W Person- [illegible] D [illegible] Press

Then in connection with other more specific structural indications the habit of walking the arms may be a token of the derivation of the human body type from a four footed animal form But that habit is strong suggestive of behooving action and seems to point more decisively to a forest life A logical line of development indicated by recent studies might begin with a ground living, quadruped whose four square structure would be naturally accordant with the law of gravitation

Next assume an advance into trees under the pressure of necessity produced by either fear or hunger This would initiate a change of function for the fore limbs making them arms instead of legs so that they would be used for grasping and pulling rather than for aiding Note that the limbs changed into arms are precisely those eliminated to rest the head the center of intelligent control and move those at the farther end of the body

This is strictly logical Watch any quadruped trying to climb Its head has to be lifted first for it contains the eyes and the organs of hearing, and consequently becomes the necessary leader A quadruped can not progress backward after the manner of some invertebrates There being two sets of limbs, the pair nearest the head control and guide the body From this pair in man the highest of four limbed animals are developed the marvelous arms and hands which give him his supremacy and are the physical factors of his civilization

Then the creature thus altered from a walker to a climber from a quadruped to a clambering biped may be supposed to have descended from his trees the necessity that drove him up into them having become less exigent thereupon his third metamorphosis would begin With this change new uses would be found for the arms and hands In the trees their principal function was grasping and swinging perhaps they were to some extent used for throwing But on the ground they would become invaluable for defense The throwing instinct would be increasingly developed Stones and sticks would be the first weapons With the use of the hands mechanical ingenuity would begin

The possessor of these powers and possibilities would be virtually a new creature upon the earth His temporary exile to the trees would have been the making of him The mere change of two of his legs into arms furnished with tool making and all making hands would have turned him from a lowly plodder over the ground with his face always near the soil to an upright alert heaven regarding, far looking masterful being the destined ruler of the earth

I protest that I can not see any derogation from the majesty of God or the dignity of man in supposing some such course of evolution as this to have been the way taken in the development of the physical creature the highly advanced animal called man This does not attack the spiritual nature of man's soul We know that that soul has to have a physical abode during its terrestrial existence that that abode then should have been prepared by an evolutional transformation of the common terrestrial type of biological existence is far more logical and more respectful to the Creator than most of the anthropomorphic devices ascribed to Him by the ologians

We have no need for shame if we recognize in the instinctive swinging of our arms as we walk an ancestral manner acquired during a banishment into the tree world which became the school for the faculties by which the future glory of our race was destined to be wrought out —Copyright 1928 International Feature Service Inc

LORD ALLENBY'S VISIT

One man of the World war is probably more secure in permanent fame than any other not because of his military achievement—though is one military office of the time wrote his last advance was a battle without a tomorrow a battle of drama for all that a general could wish for came to pass—but because the scene of his achievements was a Bible land which enshrines the most sacred memories and traditions and whose very name stirs deep emotions He will be remembered as the deliverer of the Holy Land a distinction which he will hold almost alone save for association with that picturesque figure Colonel Lawrence The latter's brilliant career Allenby made possible by his best confidence in him When they first met Allenby seemed puzzled by this haggard little man with silk robes and fine burned black red explosions what seemed a most fantastic scheme but after a little quiet listening he said o Lawrence's plan for stores and arms Well I will do for you what I can

He kept his word and the sunburnt young man in Arab costume with the Hedjaz camel corps except around the desert side of the Turkish army beyond the Jordan to make a rendezvous with Allenby's cavalry which had ridden around and had of the other wing, thus to give Allenby's victors such an artistic completeness with slight loss of life as no other battle in modern history unfurled It was this same command in chief who might have gone like a conqueror into Jerusalem with flying banners and with trumpets but who delayed his taking, that he might enter it without shedding a drop of blood within its walls or desecrating a stone When he did enter it was on foot as one who respected its sacred history and who in doing so unconsciously s omed to fulfill the cherished prophecy of many of the Arab rulers

He who will save Jerusalem and exalt her among the nations will enter the city on foot and his name will be God the Prophet —Allah Nebi

This great leader whose name will be written along with those of the warrior statesmen of ancient times and will be remembered as that of the last Crusader who brought peace to the City of Peace should have here both a local and a national welcome He comes to America as a private citizen just to see the country he has long wished to visit and to meet with our veterans who shared the perils of the war out of which he came with the loss of his only son but with the admiration and devotion of those who served with him and with the gratitude of all Christendom —New York Times

THE DEAD MAN OF GERMANY

The best thing that ever happened the people of Germany was the loss of the war Then will they won a republic And the republic won victory when Paul von Hindenburg was elected its president That step freed and set at benefit old man his been the salvation of the newly organized government Having to control him the military crowd helped to elect him But his oath to preserve the republic was a serious matter to the honest general who had learned this lesson and never touched He has kept faith with the constitution

Next Tuesday President Hindenburg will have reached the eighty first anniversary of his birth— still vigorous still true to his old station As a reward for his loyalty and honesty of purpose his people will publicly celebrate on his honor The people of Germany at his feet and in more practical form the Hindenburg Relief Fund in recognition of his military achievement The old man of Germany should have a happy birthday —Toledo Blade

Governor Will Speak on Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead Act

BY GEORGE E HOLMES
Marion Star Staff Writer

Milwaukee Wis Sept 29—Governor Smith brought his presidential campaign into Wisconsin today and Milwaukee gave him a reception such as it never accorded any one save perhaps the late Bob La Follette.

Tonight in the city auditorium Governor Smith will bring to a close his western trip. He will speak on prohibition. He reiterated above Milwaukee the danger brewing in the capital of Austria as the spot in which to explain his ideas of prohibition reform.

I will speak about the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act said the governor.

Thousands at Station

Milwaukeeans said that no candidate for the presidency has ever received the reception which Milwaukee gave to Governor Smith last night. Thousands surrounded the station when he arrived and other thousands paraded the streets for two miles to see him. Red arc burned along the curbs.

Reports as to Governor Smith's ability to carry the state in November vary according to the informant. The betting today was even money, with not much money being wagered either way.

Friends for Smith

Senator Young Bob La Follette has thus far maintained silence concerning the presidential race. But most of his friends are working hooth and nail for Smith. Senator John J Blaine who is La Follette's colleague at Washington and a former governor has just come out for Smith and announced he would neither vote for nor support Hoover.

Herman E Kern, now chairman of the state committee, and an old La Follette lieutenant is distinctly cool to the Hoover candidacy. While neither he nor La Follette have indorsed Governor Smith, it is well known that their friends are supporting Smith.

It is into such a situation that Governor Smith stepped today.

Lecture Recital Club Will Present Brahms Quartette

THE Brahms Quartette, a male ensemble, appears here at the Star auditorium Monday night, Oct. 8, under the auspices of the Marion Lecture Recital club as the first number of the series of club programs. Members include Claribel Banks and Lester Oliver, Sopranos and Nancy Hitch and Hinchman Markey, contraltos.

These four talented artists have chosen the name of Brahms, not in a haphazard manner but after a period of long study of the composers. Their search for music suitable for four women's voices led them to Italian, French and English music and the works of the German composers. Handel, Joachim, Schubert, Schumann and others famous in the world of music but added contributions for their four part repertoire but when the library was complete it was found that the name of Johannes Brahms was met more frequently than the others. A hitherto unknown fact was established that Brahms had composed more music for women's voices, than any other noted composer of the present.

Tickets To Go on Sale

In a few short years The Brahms Quartette has become one of the foremost organizations of women's voices in concert circles giving programs of only the best music written for such voices.

The opening number of the local club season has been carefully selected and should prove a delight to the music lovers of the city.

Tickets will be on sale next week and may be purchased from members of the Lecture Recital club.

DRAMATIC STORY OF AMAZING ADVENTURE

BY WILLIAM ALMON WOLFF

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

Y IE not yourself a bit thi ' said Irene ere s tting in the living room Irene s apartment—which was er would be so soon as he e le se that so Irene had told had instructed the ages to and stand to him Jim Ran tel
s ' he said I am tough re von I ve seldom been more on her head I said hel you don t like this hat she Oh dear—have I let you in for a place you ll have You shan t—I ll tell them they ll have to let it to someone el e—I ll keep it me elf till they do—
He laughed at her
"Nonsense he said It s great—and as for Mo le s perfect I ve always dreamed of having a J panese man and this is the sort of place I d have d earned of too if I d had imagination enough to have any idea there could be any place so comfortable for a man to live in Really she said still doubtfully I do think it s nice—but men are funny I ve been afraid I d better have left you to find something for yours self—'
'Not a bit of it ' he said I m de lighted and I m as grateful as I can be There s only one thing I m a little in doubt about '
I know there was something she said What is it
It s splendid for a bachelor—but—suppose—well su pose I were to get married
But you re not to—I won t have it! she said I won t have you even think of getting married for ages It s the worst thing you could possibly do You re got to wait until you re fully established in New York'
I see he said But—I m sorry—but I ve been giving the matter a lot of thought lately Ever since—well ever since I was in Chicago"
Oh! he said and laughed You re very absurd and I won t talk about it any more I think Besides—do you think it s right to be talking that way to an engaged girl '
I certainl do! he said Look here—I ll tell them there ll have to be—I wish you d start fresh No be engaged to anyone'
But I prefer to be engaged she said It gives one standing I m too old not to be engaged There s so much talk about any girl in her second season who isn t even engaged And I laughed—'
Jim tell me Have you had any quarrel with Ralph
I—I don t think so he said There was—I m wondering if you would call it a quarrel He—well he ordered me off
Her eyes flashed
What cal ous say
I m afraid I didn t give him much satisfaction I—well I don t happen to be afraid of him you see and I ve an idea he s more used to dealing with people who are
She shook her head
You ought to be afraid of him she said I am It s the only safe way with a man like Ralph He s terribly dangerous person because he s never found out yet that he can t al ways have his own way
Then said Jim with decision 'I think it s high time he learned
She sighed
I want you to be careful she said I m very fond of Ralph and I like you and I would hate it if there were any trouble
Jim looked at her
Let s stop fencing Irene' he said I m in love with you You know that You re engaged to Blake—but—I ve some reason to think that that needn t be final Do you want me to drop out? I will—if you ask me to Blake can t scare me away—but you can send me away with a word
It it—that s not fair she said I—I know I m not being fair either but I m a woman and we re not supposed to have to be are we?
I think it s perfectly fair, said Jim I m not asking you to choose between us now—I m only asking you if you want me to drop out I can t go on seeing you as if I didn t care for you—because I do But I can stop seeing you at all
I—I don t want you to do that she said after a long pause
Then—I won t—and it ll take more than Blake to make me! he cried That s all I ask—what you ve just said! I m not going to be a nuisance And I ve got a lot to do before I can ask for a showdown But—from now on, I m on my way!
'I ought to be whipped I suppose' said Irene. I m behaving in a perfectly shameless fashion—and I am shame less! I m not ashamed one bit and I m not going to pretend I am! Come on—come home with me while I change my dress Want to go to that dance
I m not invited—
'Who cares You re an extra man—and you dance! Besides—I don t like the idea of going alone
Where s Blake?'
'I m sure I don t know! He ll be there I suppose But I don t feel like going with him So—
When at last a little before the eastern sky began to grow light Jim Renshaw went to bed he couldn t sleep He had passed the wildest the maddest the most crowded hours of his life He had danced with Irene again and again
At her suggestion command he had cut in immediate whenever some one took her away from him He had had the exquisite pleasure of seeing Blake s gathering anger—an anger that had grown until long before the dance was over Blake had flung himself out
But, as he lay in the darkness he knew that he had made the wise of Irene s favor for the last time He could not go on with this Deception dishonest servant knavery—these were the motives with which he must say or more hours such as those, that last he d find him And the price was too high
It was not too late yet to clear him self He could tell Irene the truth in the morning He could and he would go to her f thes and explain his re noval of the opportunity he had of fered him He could refuse to take de livery of the car Foster had sold him—the boy would be no worse off after all All these things he could do and he must quit he would The d cam was over Blake? Let Blake have his triumph He was entitled to it after all
Eleven o clock saw him punctual to his appointment at the office that Mr Delmar visited when he was in New York, about once a month He was ushered in at once—and startled in annoyance when he saw that Blake was before him
'Ah' Glad to see you Renshaw" said Delmar You have th habit of punctuality If you ll excuse us Ralph —I have an engagement with Renshaw here—'
Then—in spite of all I ve said—you re going through with this, Mr Delmar? said Blake
Delmar bowed His voice his man ner were suave
I have many to lay" he said 'but to go back upon my word is not one of them My hand is at Renshaw s dis posal—if he cares to take it
Blake took one swift, striding, step toward the door Then he turned He looked at him contemptuously
Very well!' he said I ll make you an offer then Renshaw Close your deal with Mr Delmar—sign your contract And I ll give you my check for a hundred thousand dollars for t before you leave this room A hun dr d thousand dollars—clear profit
Jim stared Delmar smiled
"A handsome offer ' he said Ren shaw—if you are disposed to accept it you must feel free to do so It s an excellent proposition—as ver goods whatever risk is involved in carrying out your own plan
I d have no right— Jim began Blake sneered
Pardon me—you have every right to act as you please ' said Delmar Use your own judgment.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M LEWIS

WHEN I woke up this morning I was telling Jubilee some more about the yellow Jack to 'Tint was a pretty good idea getting them in s paper box My father thinks they have got a nest somewhere in the wall of the house but he says he can t figure out how come they all come buzzing out at once
At breakfast my grandfather said they must of thought my ant was a hon yaukle blossom and went after hey to sip the honey from her lips She just sniffed with her nose and didn t say anything so then he began again He told when he saw her com ing out of her bedroom in her night gown I thought she was a little prairie flower growing wilder every hour and then he said that maybe it was sex appeal that made them set after her and by that time she had got most all of the grub on the table piled up on her plate and she got up and took it and started to leave the table But she stumbled over something and the air was full of eats and my ant lit with her face in a syrupy pancake that had lit on the couch and I don t think she was me and when the yellow jackets harpooned her on she was then She jumped up and grabbed the water pitcher off the table and drownded my grandfather with what was in it and then my grandfather began to laugh and my ant began to laugh and every one hollered My father said I wish you children would go out in the barn to fight your battles
Whitey said that Gene Tunney isn t going to be a prize fighter any more and that who we wants to can be champeen, and Nita says he is going to write to Tunney and set him for the job and I said if he got it I would challenge him and knock his block off and that made him mad He said that every time anybody thinks of any thing I have to butt in and spoil it up
We went over to Wagmore s and got our hats full of grapes after school, and Mrs Wagmore had me and Pershie come in and sign papers he had left for us to sign, and Mrs Wagmore and the cook had to sign as witnesses I am glad children are not as funny as grown ups If they were and I wanted to give Younies an apple I would have to write out a receipt saying To whom it may concern, I Thomas Aristides Brown being free white and nine years old and in my right mind do give convey and dispose of to Younies one Rambo apple to be the property of her airs and assigns forever and what God has put together let not man put asunder,' and then I would have to sign it and get two witnesses to sign it and by that time the apple would be rot ten Annabelle Lee reached into the frying pan on the stove this noon and grabbed a hot dog The whole neighborhood knew how sorry she was

Harry Underwood s Attitude Toward Lillian Leaves Her Bewildered

INVOLUNTARILY I glanced at Mother Graham Mother Graham asked Lillian to see Mrs Lee after her Sunday nap and the new car I don t be open to ask her husband with an ease ly frank and I must look what s increased my bewilderment at her re action to Harry s effort at making his way of manner toward her It was plain she was waiting for her cousin s let le giving an answer to my s ge re lations invitation and this hesitancy was at variance with her us I learn d about Lillian s ideas that my sub conscious side glanced beside a frank and astonished stare
I am sure Mr Underwood will not see the extension in her l e for he gave her only the most perfunctory glance as he said
Do come with us Lillian I m sure it would do you good
His voice and manner were still those which he might have used to Lillian s mother were that August ers take a guest at the farm house and again I saw a hurt I will dered look shadow Lillian s eyes But there was no trace of any emotion in her reply which she made to Mother Graham including Le husband casually
It s my kind of you Mother Graham, she said that interfer but I ll thank you Harry as pertinent to my his own speech But I don t believe I m quite up to driving this after noon
I know you re not bothering to tell her If you had asked you in Lillian old aunt —she pointed to her self with a stilted ceremonious— no would have told you that you could not go Aunt is very apt to bring that headache back So no matter The occasion for yours all day
I shall be glad to follow that pre scription' Lillian said 'I m still sleepy and tired
Why don t you have a nap out here after luncheon mother dear' Morris asked 'I ll mount guard over you and see that nobody disturbs
Who will mount guard over you? Dicky le sed but I lost Mother s ter rest for Harry Underwood was speaking to me
Is luncheon at 1 today?' he asked
If a certain culinary plan of Kellen doesn t go awry' I answered remembering the pink pudding which my little maid was concocting
Then I ll have time to run down to the village for an errand I ve forgot ten I m not going to ask anyone to I ln me this time for I m going to swing a mean foot on the gas
I accept me' Dicky said rising Well die together, old top
They went down the steps together and as they crossed to the car Dicky s voice which has an unusual carrying quality came back to us distinctly
'Well Smoke when you mourns you also mourns right even to black under clothes
The reference to an old joke over which we all had laughed startled me for an instant then I understood that Dicky was rallying Harry about his sudden change in his manner to his wife I wondered If my husband guessed who was responsible for his fri ndish and hat abandonment of familiar slangy endearments to Lillian And suddenly jealousstricken lest Lillian also should guess the truth by some flash of her keen perceptions I kept my eyes care fully trained on the departing car
But my air of unconcern lasted as silent nothing I heard a chuckle from Lillian then her voice mischievously admonishing me
'You can stop the ostrich stunt now Madge'

PROGRAMS COME HOUR LATER

Radio Reception Here

With stations of the National and Columbia broadcasting systems having moved from eastern daylight saving to eastern standard time, radio listeners in Marion will gain advantage of better reception of the chain programs later at night.

Under the present arrangement broadcasting of most programs will be received in Marion an hour later than was the case during the summer months. This places the better programs later at night when reception is at its best.

Featuring the broadcasts Monday night will be presentation of "I Pagliacci," a grand opera in two acts by Ruggiero Leoncavallo, over the NBC system at 10:30 o'clock. It will be the third of a series of offerings by the National Grand Opera company.

Chopin's spirited "Polonaise Militaire" opens the weekly program of the A. & P. Gypsies to be broadcast through the NBC system at 8:30 o'clock Monday night.

The wandering minstrels' colorful program will include the "Danses Miriliens" from Tschaikowsky's "Nut Cracker Suite" and a special symphonic arrangement of Lange's "Scarf Dance."

The Coco Couriers will bring to the radio audience several old favorites in their program to be heard at 8 o'clock Monday night through the associated stations of the Columbia broadcasting system. "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "The Soldier's Farewell" are included in the program.

Willys-Overland, Inc.,

New York City.

Attention Mr. H. M. Davis

Dear Mr. Davis
I promised to write you about the performance of the Willys-Knight that I purchased during our four years' use of them in the mountains and the veldts of Central and East Africa.

To sum it up briefly, the Willys-Knights are my first and only choice where the maximum of rugged strength and power is the primary requisite.

The fact that the bodies are built so rugged and the Knight engine is so simple in design, with so few parts, has made the small repairs easy for my black boys.

Our roads were mostly camel trails through unexplored country and our Knights were given the hardest use a car could get, but they stood up wonderfully. Now, after four years, they are as good as ever and live up to your slogan that "they improve with use."

Mrs. Johnson and I think the Willys-Knight is the best, simplest and sturdiest motor on earth.

With best wishes from us both.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) MARTIN JOHNSON.

YANKS CLINCH AMERICAN PENNANT

CONNIE MACK'S TEAM IS MATHEMATICALLY BEATEN ON STRETCH

Five-Day Rest To Aid Injured Players of New York

BY H. I. PHILLIPS

NEW YORK Sept 29—On the eve of the annual football game with Harvard, a group of Yale undergraduates once waved to the stude l body at Cambridge the message May the best team win! The scholarly boys of Harvard reciprocated some hot lightnin in follows— May the better team win

Well, the better team and not the best team won the American league pennant this year when the New York Yankees beat Detroit yesterday and the Philadelphia Athletics were mathematically eliminated The Yanks nearly outpaced the A's 10 games to go but against the rest of the league the Mackmen had an edge of 7½ games in the New Yorkers With the Philadelphia New York contests eliminated the Yanks won 91 games and lost 58 while the A's won 91 games and lost 58

Be that as it may the Huggins were victorious in the pinches and that greatness of theirs may give them another world championship despite the loss of Pennock the poor condition of Lazzeri Ruth and Koenig and the injury to Earl Combs star center fielder Combs who fractured his right wrist which he crashed into a concrete wall Thursday is out of the series in all probability Laschal will take his place against Southpaw pitchers and Durst will get the call against right-handers

But the other Yankee regulars their exhibition over winning New York's sixth pennant in eight years somewhat tempered by the loss of Combs believe that Ruth, Lazzeri and Koenig can round into shape by taking a complete rest in the five days remaining before the start of the post season classic

Ruth is ailing, Lazzeri does not seem to be affecting his batting as he has walloped three home runs in his last three games If a truck should run over the Babe in the next few days he might get real peeved and hit about a dozen homers in the world series

George Pipgras turned in his third victory Saturday was New York's 100th triumph of the season Victors last year by 19 games, the Yanks blew a 3½ game lead this season and were out of first place three weeks ago Today Miller Huggins' worries should be over but he is just beginning to worry about the world series

Harding Ready For Opening Football Contest

LARUE WINS SECOND GAME

NORTH LEWISBURG DEFEATED IN EASY GRID FRAY, 19 TO 0

Winkler, Freeman and Metz Do Scoring for Marion County Eleven

WITH the backfield working almost perfectly LaRue high school gridders stepped out Friday afternoon and won their first football game on a foreign field when they defeated North Lewisburg 19 to 0

In only one quarter of the contest did North Lewisburg seem able to hold down the Marion county eleven That was in the opening period of the fray when the locals were held scoreless

Winkler's 20 yard dash around right end for a touchdown and defeat written all over it for the North Lewisburg team This was LaRue's first conflict With two games under the belt, the Marion county pigskin stars will resume intensive practice next week for the biggest contest of the season In the first game of Ohio on counter LaRue will play Richwood Up to date Richwood has failed to win a single contest

Yesterday's contest failed to reveal any glaring weakness in the defense and offense of the Marion county team Freeman scored in the third quarter through the center of North Lewisburg's line In the final period Metz broke through the same spot

North Lewisburg had only one chance to score That was in the third period when their fullback made a long run through the LaRue team before finally being stopped by M Allen, safety man 20 yards from the goal line

Braves Hold Better Mark For Finish Than Athletics

THE cyclone finish of the Athletics from the nowhere of Fallbon to a glorious chance for world series conflict is the outstanding achievement of this decade

But it doesn't match the showing of the Boston Braves of 1914

The Braves had to crush an entire league to win the pennant the Athletics needed only the crumbling of the Yankees to gain pault them to the peak

On July 4, 1914 the Braves were in the cellar with 26 victories and 37 defeats On July 4 14 years later the Athletics were second close to the 600 mark

In the span from July 1 1914 until the season end the Braves won 65 games out of 90—an accomplishment that the Athletics cannot match

When the Braves started their spurt, they were 12½ games behind the league leaders When the last "play ball" had sounded over National league baseparks they were 10½ contests in front of the second place Giants

Thus in three months playing 90 games they picked up a net profit of 27 defeat combats which sums up to a record that shall endure through the ages to come

FOR THE MAIZE AND BLUE

George Rich, who is generally considered to be one of the best bets in the University of Michigan football outfit this season As a huckleberry who can carry the ball and tackle em hard Rich is expected to do big things for Harry Up Yost and his junior partner, Earl Wehman

ST. LOUIS HOLDS TWO-GAME LEAD

Giants Must Defeat Cubs While Cardinals Lose to Boston To Stay in Race; Leaders Will Play Sunday in New York

BY DAVIS J WALSH

NEW YORK Sept 29—It was only 12 hours ago that officials of the New York ball club were hustling hither and thither as it were or maybe was warning a distrait populace that it simply was no use asking them again they had no reserved seats left for the ball game between the Giants and Cardinals tomorrow and if everybody would just be patient and wait a little longer they could guarantee to have even less than that

All I can say now is that things have come to a parlous state when a man must lose sleep for a period of more than 12 hours tonight worrying about what the holders of those tickets might be able to use them for if the Cardinals beat the Braves again this afternoon It will be equally as a loss to fathom this problem even if the Cubs don't trot the Braves this afternoon For they can blow that ball game right down the old pipe stem and still like a lot of champions of the National league greeted the Giants blithely boot another to the Cubs

If the things that should happen to days does happen I can set with real sonatic confidence that they wont take those tickets with them to the Polo Grounds tomorrow and I'll even tell you how it is that I know so much They won't be going to the Polo Grounds

The Cards this morning virtually are in They can go wrong but undoubtedly they won't They got this why yesterday by pulling out another of their thousand fifteenth innings finishes while the Giants again were finishing a rousing second to the Cubs The St Louis entry thus went two games ahead of the situation with only both two games yet to be played

The Cardinals can join the Yankees today and make 1928 repeat itself All they have to do is take the Braves again and this should be no trick at all for a ball club that can win two lopsiding games at almost league importance four days Brooks, the Braves are all out of miracles after holding a prospective pennant winner scoreless for two straight innings between the tenth and the fourteenth in classic yesterday

VICTORY IS EXPECTED BY RED AND BLACK OVER GALION ELEVEN

Peacock Not To Start Fray, Woesner Will Be Given Chance

BY KARL R McELROY
Sports Editor, The Star

HARDING is ready

That was the word passed out last night by Coach Dewey Pohrer and he sent his Red and Black squad of gridders through their final practice for the opening of the football season in Marion

The team looked like a million dollars last night when they were sent through a fight s rummage at the fair grounds field

With the exception of Peacock the team is in good condition It is not likely that the tackle will start or even get into the fray He is out with a bruised muscle and his place is being taken in practice by Woesner

Galion will provide the Bulger machine with opposition It will be a league engagement making double important that the locals win A loss may send the N C O trophy to some other school

However Harding's chances are exceptionally bright in spite of the fact that Galion has one game under their belt In this contest they defeated Crestline, 13 to 0

Perry and Zimmer will be holding down the wing positions while Woesner and Anslen are slated to start at tackle Haberman will snap back the ball with Harlen and Williams at guard Mc Anlach will captain the team and call signals from a half back position with Casiner at full Wise will play the other half and Medley will start at quarter

BASEBALL SEASON IS NEARING CLOSE HERE

Eagles Will Play Colored Team at Lincoln Park Sunday

With the baseball season drawing to a close the Marion Eagles will play two more games this year

Sunday the team will take on the Columbus Keystones at Lincoln park and the following week are slated to play the Ohio Motors of Toledo here

Sunday s fray will start at 2 30 o'clock and will be the third of a series with the Columbus colored stars The series stands even at the present time

LACES ROAD LUH

New York Sept 29—Vincent Richards former Davis cup player and present American professional tennis champion faces a hard task this afternoon when he meets Karel Kozeluh, European professional champion in the final round match of the National professional tournament at Forest Hills The wiry little Czecho Slovakian regarded as the greatest player in the world has beaten Richards in each of their three previous clashes

BY W. S. COUSINS
I. N. S. Financial Editor

New York Sept. 29—Brilliant forward movements of the major and industrial stocks were promptly resumed at the beginning of trading in the last session of the market today.

Shorts in Chrysler motors were given further punishment as the stock jumped into new high ground above 120 in extremely heavy trading. General Motors recovered most of the ground lost in the early part of the week and new gains of a point or two were scored in Steel Baker and Hupp. The high priced specialties including Gillette, Razor, National Dairy Products carried their advances from two to five points under the stimulus of a powerful buying demand. A few of the metals stocks continued the buoyant movement inaugurated near the close of Friday's session and Radio jumped five points to 41 in a new drive against the shorts.

The week end business and mercantile reviews were unusually favorable the colder weather having stimulated wider demand for winter garments. Montgomery Wards September sales aggregated $40,000,000 the largest in history for that month and a gain of between 20 and 30 per cent over the corresponding week of last year. Business profits have improved with the firming up of commodity prices and Wall Street sees a very promising prospect for business in the final quarter of 1928.

Stock sales in the first hour were slightly in excess of 800,000 shares a little below the average of recent week end first hour turnover. The tape was within eight minutes of the market at that time and the profit taking which flowed in from various points impeded the progress of the upward movement in prices. Moderate recoveries in the oils and utilities gave the market a stronger tone in the second hour.

FRUIT FROM COAST MAKES APPEARANCE

Predicted Price Boost on Shipments Fails To Materialize Here

Marion's retail markets passed through the doldrums early this week with the home grown season practically finished and shipments of fruits and vegetables from the coast not yet arrived.

Everything is plentiful if you're willing to pay for it, was the manner in which one local retailer expressed price conditions in Marion's wholesale centers during the past week. Wholesalers endeavor to take advantage of the natural scarcity for home grown products by keeping the price up in such supplies as received while retailers retaliated by refusing to buy. It was reported.

Citrus fruit prices were high during the entire week as a result of apprehensive unfounded rumors that the hurricane in Florida and the West Indies would make citrus fruits scarce. As all citrus fruits sold in Marion except grapefruit are shipped from the west coast the Florida disaster will have no effect here, it was stated.

Supplies of all kinds shipped from the coast began to arrive here late this week but the rise in prices expected by retailers following the first shipments failed to materialize.

New arrivals on local stands during the week included sour Kieffer pears, Hubbard squash, New York peaches, lemon free stone peaches, smock peaches and Tokay grapes.

At no place in Cuba is the sea more than forty miles distant.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF MEMPHIS'S GRAIN

Chicago Sept. 29—There was nothing bearish about the grain markets today. Most of the talk at futures closed lower to be sure but the loss were inconsequential and the September future closed higher. But it was the deferred futures from corn that showed the real strength for they worked up nearly to the top of prevailing selling while most bulls at that were too timid to buy.

At the close wheat was ½ lower to ¼ higher corn was ¼ lower to ¼ higher oats were up ¼ to 1 rye was up ½ to ¾.

All the markets looked to be in very strong position at the close. They may have a good chance today especially if they show any weakness at the start. In such a case it seems they are not only advance but hold their gains.

This is the last delivery day of this month and the extent of the September futures will add a good deal of interest to the session. It seems unlikely to me that they will go out weak.

What Will September Do?

If September corn goes out a high as 80 cents over it seems to me it will leave a bullish wake that will influence the attitude of the trade toward the deferred futures. If the September situation in corn were really weak the market would have broken yesterday. Many longs in old out their holdings and some of them had rilitted over to the bear side.

But the market took it like corn that was poured into it from the start, and never lulged so much as a sixteenth below the bottom of the opening range which was the best in of the closing range the day before. As the session advanced there were plenty of bear predictions that the September future would break badly and the other futures follow.

But the September future recovered all of its early loss except 1½c and the other futures never followed it down ward in its preliminary decline.

Should the September future go out with great strength instead of at or below the present level, there might be a rush by shorts to buy the other futures. Longs should remember however, that the last delivery day of any future often furnishes an erratic market.

Wheat gave a remarkable account of itself under the circumstances. The general feeling was bearish and December wheat was pounded from the start. But the market would not break through 118 which was only ⅛c under the low of the day before.

All day long the market worked within the narrow range of ⅝c and all day long it got support when it needed it. It struck me that there was big buying at 118 and just above that figure, similar to the buying that appeared a cent lower the other day before the market went up to $1.20¼.

Wheat has had one good primary advance to recent high of $1.21⅛ for the December future, which preceded the high above referred to. Profits were taken on a big scale and now the market may be ready to go back into a strongly bullish position.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Local markets were steady to firm with the elite trade reported as buying freely. Fruit and vegetable prices were generally unchanged with the exception of tomatoes which showed a slight decline.

Eggs and butter were in good demand with the local dealers paying 40c for No. 1 eggs and 50c for No. 1 butterfat. Wheat was up ½c to 1½c, corn ½c to 1c and oats ½c to 1c.

Cantaloupes and watermelons were the only fruits that showed a weakness. Grapes, peaches and pears were in good demand with apples in the usual quantities.

Cotton prices and bananas still remained high at the wholesale markets with the latter commodity showing a slight increase. Celery and lettuce prices were unchanged.

OHIO FUGITIVE IS CAUGHT IN WEST

Companion of Insane Slayer Captured in Marion Is Held at Salt Lake City

Clarence Beard, insane slayer who escaped from the Lima State hospital for the criminal insane on Sept. 2, in company with Thomas McKenna, is in custody of authorities at Salt Lake City, Utah, according to dispatches received from there yesterday.

McKenna was captured in Marion the day following the escape, when Erie railroad detectives discovered him in the Erie yards here. Beard disappeared and no trace of him was found until identification was established following his arrest at Salt Lake City.

Unidentified Five Days

Beard was arrested there last Sunday and sentenced to 15 days' imprisonment for trespassing in a railroad yards. For five days he was a prisoner in the Salt Lake City jail with officials unaware of the fact that they had behind bars an escaped maniac for whom a state wide hunt was in progress. At the time of his arrest for trespassing the police, suspecting Beard possessed a criminal record, sent his fingerprints to Washington, D. C.

A dispatch from Columbus states that Dr. W. H. Vorhies, superintendent of the Lima state hospital, was to confer today with State Welfare Director John Harper in regard to steps to be taken to have Beard returned to the Lima institution.

Fingerprints Tell Story

Beard's identity was discovered at Salt Lake City yesterday when an examination of his fingerprints showed they tallied with those of the man who had been serving a life term at the Lima institution for the murder of Stephen Zaborski, bank employe, during a holdup at the Cleveland Savings & Loan bank last January.

Beard had $15,000 in his possession when taken into custody, according to dispatches from Salt Lake City, and has declared his intention of resisting all efforts to have him extradited although Dr. Vorhies at Lima last night stated that he would send one of his staff to Salt Lake City at once to have the fugitive brought back to the institution.

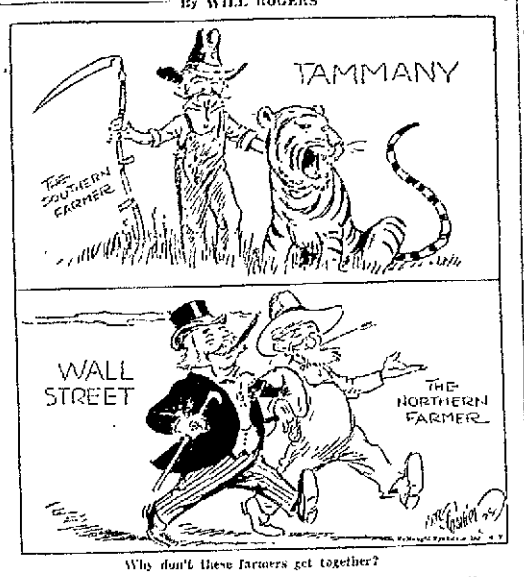
Country Against City

Poor Get Poorer and the Rich Get Richer, No Matter Which Party Is in Power, Will Rogers Declares

By WILL ROGERS



Why don't these farmers get together?

WELL, all I know is just what I read in the papers, and back here in New York there is an awful lot of papers to read. But they are mostly pictures. New York Newspapers don't have reporters, all they have is photographers. Everything is done by pictures. They wouldent give a dime for the biggest story in the world if there was no pictures with it, for it would be no good for their people couldent read it. So I sure have read a lot of pictures since I been back here.

What they cant read in the picture why they hear over the radio, so there is no use knowing how to read reading any more. There must be a kind of a gentleman's agreement between Smith and Hoover. They have divided up the air so that Smith has it Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and Hoover Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, and you would think "Well that gives us Sundays without having to listen to any Politics." But don't you believe it, thats when you get more Politics than all the rest of the week combined. Thats when the Preachers start lectioneering. They all start out by saying, "The Church should not enter into politics, BUT," then they try to show in them case it is different, that they are not entering politics, they are just advising, that people are so flighty nowadays that if they are not advised properly why they are so apt to be led astray by the opposition.

Smith Starts Out

Smith started out a couple of weeks ago and made what I bet he thought was a trip around the World. I bet he had no more idea this country was like that big or he would never had the nerve to say he would try and govern it. He hit Omaha first. He made it Farm Relief speech there. The poor farmers have had more oratorical relief than monetary.

Smith brought out one pretty clever thing in that speech, that was showing that the Republican Farm relief plank was exactly the same in the 1924 Convention and in the 1928. They hadent even gone to enough trouble for the farmer to re-word their promise. It just looked like they said, "Well what did we promise him last election?" "Oh, we promised him relief." "Well do us well for him this time, promise it to him again. As long as we don't give it to him we can keep on promising him."

Well Al nailed em on that, but of course they will squirm out of it some way by saying they was just on the verge of giving him relief when something happened. But the old Farmer up North, he will go right to the polls on November sixth and vote the Republican ticket, and the old farmer down south will go and vote the Democratic ticket. Now will you tell me why in the Lord's name those two should not be on the same side politically? What does the farmer in the North want that the Republican party can give him, that his brother in the South wants that the Democrats can give him? Why shut they on the same side? They both raise corn and oats, they both have to buy wagons and plows. They both want to sell what they raise for as much as they can get for it, and buy the same things for as little as they can. Now I don't know if they should be Republicans or Democrats, but it does look like they should be on the same side. The only reason I can see is they fought against each other in '65, so that made one a Democrat and one a Republican. So if they still harbor that feeling then there is no reason why they should get rebef. When they can't agree among themselves how do they expect to get anything? So I don't blame the Party's from not helping them.

Tammany and Farmers

Now here is the southern farmer lined up with Tammany Hall. Now what have Tammany Hall and ANY Farmer got in common? Then here is the Northern Farmer lined up with Wall Street and big business. Now why should they be together? The Farmer dont want to borrow any more money. Borrowing is what put him in the hole he is in today. The Government was always figuring out where he could borrow more. But they never figured out where he could pay something back. Now there is a real reason why farmers or country people should be in one political part) and City people in another. They have different interests, different needs, different things to sell, and hundreds of different wants and customs. But why the Northern farmer and the northern City fellow, should be aligned against the Southern Farmer and the southern City fellow, that is beyond sane understanding.

Still Fighting The War

That should be the legitimate alignment of politics, is the Country against the city. Tariff dont divide the two parties anymore. Smith is explaining his head off that if he gets in they wont do away with the tariff, so it would just drive a person pretty near crazy to dope out really what does divide the two. Outside of one being in and wanting to stay in, and the other being out and wanting to get in. Prohibition can't be the dividing line, for it is so arranged that both sides get all that they want. Prosperity don't divide the two parties for under either administration the poor get poorer and the rich get richer. Prosperity is only a question of giving a Guy time to get it. So the whole things it looks like goes back to the Civil war. The Boys are still fighting it and don't know it.

POSITIVE AGITATION

What a delight it is, when housecleaning is over, to see everything beautifully clean!

What a satisfaction it is, to know that dust is banished from furnishings, and that even to the bottommost depths of the rugs, the whole house is spotless.

And how essential it is, in creating this cleanliness, to have the aid of a Hoover.

There's not a corner or a crevice into which the searching Dusting Tools of The Hoover can not go. There's not a bit of upholstery, a drapery or lamp, a mattress or pillow that won't be the cleaner for their use.

Every rug and carpet will be fresher and lovelier for Hoover cleaning. For "Positive Agitation"—the exclusive cleaning principle of The Hoover removes more dirt per minute.

Now The Hoover offers a new helpfulness, in its motor-driven Floor Polishing Attachment. This new housekeeping aid polishes quickly and brilliantly.

Why not have a demonstration in your home of The Hoover, its Dusting Tools and Floor Polishing Attachment?
